Call for applications: Lippstadt Campus
The Deutschlandstipendium 2026/27 at Hamm-Lippstadt University of Applied Sciences

General information
For the winter semester 2026/27, Hamm-Lippstadt University of Applied Sciences is once again offering Deutschlandstipendium scholarships.
For the Lippstadt campus, we are offering 3 new scholarships. These come in addition to the 23 scholarships from last year that have been approved and extended.

The Deutschlandstipendium is paid for jointly by the German federal government and private sponsors. It gives talented students financial support. Your income or your parents' income does not matter.
The most important thing is outstanding performance at school, at university and/or at work. In an overall assessment of your potential, we also look at your personal background and life path so far.

All students of Hamm-Lippstadt University of Applied Sciences can apply. To receive a scholarship, you must be enrolled at the Lippstadt Campus of the university.

Funding conditions
The scholarships can only be offered if the university finds private sponsors. The government then adds public money to the private funds. This makes it possible to award scholarships for one year: from 1 October of the year of approval (paid retroactively) to 30 September of the following year. You receive 300 euros per month. Each scholarship is approved for one year. If your academic results are good, it can be extended. You can also apply if you are in the last semester of your bachelor's degree and want to start a master's degree at HSHL in the coming summer semester. This also applies if you already receive a Deutschlandstipendium at HSHL in the last semester of your bachelor's degree.
You can receive the Deutschlandstipendium even if you already get BAföG (state financial aid for students)!

Applications
The next Deutschlandstipendium scholarships will be awarded for the winter semester 2026/27. Your application must reach the scholarship officers by 22 November 2026 at the latest.

The scholarship officer for the Lippstadt campus is Prof. Dr. Sabine Hollmann.
Please send us a written application. It should clearly show all the points that are relevant for this application process.

*Some scholarships have also been extended for six months, until the end of the standard period of study.

Proof of eligibility
Performance and talent can be shown mainly in the following ways:

- for first-year students:
    - the average grade of your university entrance qualification (for example, the Abitur), especially the grades in subjects that matter for your chosen degree programme, or
    - a special qualification that allows you to study at this university,
- for students who are already enrolled: your study results so far, especially the ECTS credits you have earned or the results of an intermediate exam. For master's students, the final grade of your previous degree also counts.

For the overall assessment of your potential, certificates and proof of the following are also important:

- special achievements, awards and prizes, previous work experience and internships,

- activities outside school or outside your subject, such as volunteer work, social or political involvement, involvement in university committees, or membership in religious communities, associations or clubs,

- special personal or family circumstances, such as illness or disability, caring for your own children (especially as a single parent) or for close relatives who need care, working in a family business, having a job while you study, your family background, or a migration background.

You must submit the following documents:

- Transcript of records for your current studies and, if you have one, the certificate of a previous degree (you can print the transcript directly from your student account in the online Campus Portal; you only need it from your 2nd semester onwards)
- Your university entrance qualification (for example, the Abitur)
- Certificates and other proof for the criteria that matter in the overall assessment

Please submit all documents and proof in German or English.
You do not need to send a cover letter or a CV. They will not be considered in the selection.

Please also fill in the following forms and attach them to your application: the applicant data form (a spreadsheet in XLS format) and the scholarship consent form. You can find both forms on the learning platform in the section "Stipendien" (scholarships) at this link:
https://mymoodle.hshl.de/course/view.php?id=4282

Contact
In Lippstadt, you can only apply by email. Please send your application to Stipendienbeauftragte.Lippstadt@hshl.de

You can ask your questions during the office hours of the Student Advisory Service. Extra office hours have now been added.

*Some scholarships have also been extended for six months, until the end of the standard period of study.

Selection and award process

The scholarship officer at each campus runs the selection and award process. The President of the university makes the final decision on who receives a scholarship.

Scholarship holders are chosen based on talent, performance and the other criteria listed above, such as personal background and social involvement. We look at the required documents and all other documents you submit.

If you do not submit your documents on time, you will be excluded from the process.

If there are more applicants than scholarships, we will create a ranking list. If necessary, applicants further down the list may receive a scholarship later.

You will not receive a confirmation that your application has arrived.

The scholarship officer at your campus will let you know whether your application was successful or not.

*Some scholarships have also been extended for six months, until the end of the standard period of study.
